LEON NEELY BEARD JR
Deceased 2019-10-10 Age 84
Pawleys Island SC

Leon Neely Beard Jr. a retired college physics teacher died 10 October 2019 at his home in Pawleys Island South Carolina. He was 84. Known as "Neel" Dr. Beard conducted research in crystallography the physics of music and the design of affordable laboratory hardware for physics classrooms. The primary cause of death was cancer. Dr. Beard served a short stint in the Navy after winning a scholarship to the Naval Academy in high school and after three semesters at Annapolis he then chose to study physics and earned his B.A. in 1957 and his Ph.D. in 1967 both from Vanderbilt University. Early jobs included being a Mathematician at the Army Ballistic Missile Agency Redstone Arsenal Alabama (1958-62) where he published two papers for NASA on rocket aeronautics and digital computing. In 1959 he married Jacqueline Phillips of Nashville and lived with her in Tennessee Alabama and Virginia. They had one son Phillip and were divorced in 1983. Dr. Neel Beard taught at Hampden-Sydney College in Virginia from 1968 until 1995. In the 1970s and 1980s he creatively fused interests in electronics and music in the development of a breath-controlled music synthesizer called the "Sydophone" which adeptly imitated wind instruments like saxophones oboes and horns. Dr. Beard was a devoted clarinet player in the Litton High School band in Nashville and in the Huntsville Civic Orchestra in Alabama which played a classical repertoire. Later research interests in microcomputers inspired him to develop laboratory apparatus in inexpensive kit form that could serve high school and undergraduate physics classrooms. He began his professional science career working for NASA but in his later years as a college teacher he concentrated on interfaces of computers and catapults pendulums and turntables for basic experiments in earthly forces and motion. In 1990 he received a Merck Innovation Award for this work. While he taught subjects related to mechanical and electrical engineering his interests in music and the visual arts made him well-suited to a liberal arts college like Hampden-Sydney which required a broad education in languages literature and philosophy even from its science majors. Dr. Beard was an only child born to Leon Neely Beard Sr. and Ruth Ricks in Nashville on 22 December 1934. His father was a salesman of cars and real estate. His family lived in Florida during World War Two where Leon Beard worked in shipbuilding. Dr. Beard was an early fan of Gene Nobles' nighttime rhythm and blues show on WLAC in Nashville. A man of varied tastes throughout his life he collected blues and chamber music and model trains in his retirement. He is survived by his son Dr. Phillip Beard who teaches English at Auburn University.

CLASS of 52

Deceased 2020-12-29 Age 86
Hermitage TN

James “Jim” Otis Gilley Jr. passed away December 29 2020 in Hermitage TN from COVID-19. He was 86. Jim was born in Smithville Tennessee November 10 1934. He grew up in Nashville playing “war” and rolling tires down hills with his brother Roy and other neighborhood kids. He told lots of stories of his teachers in school and was seemingly not a stranger to their disciplining techniques. He attended Isaac Litton High School where his teachers encouraged him to quit school and make it big in country music. He was a talented artist playing guitar harmonica and piano all by ear. He played the Honky Tonk scene with musicians who would become Opry and country music legends. He quit music when God called him into ministry. He graduated from Belmont University and Trinity College of the Bible with a degree in theology then served at Madison Heights Baptist Church as their music minister. He became an insurance salesman which he continued for 60+ years. A prolific writer Jim authored or co-authored with his brother several books and booklets about the Bible and Israel including Beyond His Passion: The Whole Story of Jesus Christ’s Death and Resurrection and Jerusalem’s Jubilee. He ran the In the Word Today ministry through his website answering questions about Jesus and encouraging others to study the Word. His grandchildren’s favorite writing of his though was always the personalized poems they received in homemade cards for every holiday and occasion. When he died he was a longtime member of Tulip Grove Baptist Church where he served faithfully in the choir on the evangelism team as a Sunday School teacher and in other ministries for many years. One of his favorite things to do was stroll around church events “pickin’ and grinnin’” playing guitar and harmonica for kids and adults alike. A big kid himself Jim loved playing with his grandchildren. He had nicknamed himself “Silly Hillbilly Gilley” and could often be found making faces to kids or adults to make them laugh—especially in moments when laughter was not encouraged. His favorite gifts well into his eighties were toys. He enjoyed showing them off to all the kids who would come over. Everyone knew him as “Daddy Jim” though for a few years he donned the name “Santa Claus” at Christmas playing the role at church and school functions for his grandkids. Jim also loved spoiling his grandchildren with treats and more importantly sweets. His family all knows that a “DaddyJim” portion of ice cream is at least three well-packed scoops. He usually asked for dessert to be served before the rest of the family finished eating their meal. True to the end one of the last requests was for ice cream. He will be remembered for his creativity his ministry his childlike spirit and his love for his family. Jim is survived by his wife of 38 years Jeanette L. Gilley; his children Georgie Hyndman (Ron) David Gilley and Jennifer Henderson (Brian); his grandchildren Elizabeth Hyndman Abigail Hyndman Hannah Shah Aaron Neely and Jacob Neely; his great-grandchild Samuel Farris; his sister-in-law Jean Gilley; his niece Patricia Bain (Doug); his great niece Diana Bain and his great-great niece Annaleah Bain. Jim was preceded in death by his parents James “Bill” O. Gilley Sr. and Ida Bell Gilley and his brother Roy Gilley. Funeral services will be held 2 pm Sunday at Hermitage Funeral Home with Bro Phil Lundy officiating. Interment to follow at Hermitage Memorial Gardens. Visitation Sunday from 12 pm till time of service. Services will also be available for viewing online at Hermitage Funeral Home Facebook page. In lieu of flowers donations may be made to Tulip Grove Music Ministry.

He graduated from what is formally known as Litton High School. After graduation William enlisted in the United States Navy Reserve. He was a Navy man from January 25 1951 through January 24 1959. After returning home from the Navy William got a job working as a truck driver with Kroger Co. he was a member of the teamsters local 480 and retired from Kroger Co.
